Designed to bring a tailored finishing touch to the bedroom, the Cashiers Bed Bench pairs graceful proportions with an artful mix of leather, European Oak, and aged brass. Its refined silhouette offers a sophisticated place to sit at the foot of the bed, while distinctive material details give the bench a character all its own. The generously upholstered seat is covered in Waxed Aniline Top Grain Leather, bringing natural warmth and character to the design. European Oak veneers in the light Almond finish reveal the wood's natural grain, knots, and subtle texture, creating a relaxed complement to the leather. Tapered legs lend an elegant sense of balance and keep the silhouette visually light. Connecting the legs, a unique textured aged brass metal stretcher introduces an unexpected architectural element. Its warm metallic finish contrasts beautifully with the softly finished oak and leather, adding dimension and a distinctive detail that draws the eye without overwhelming the design.
